Door intercom system TFS-Dialog 202 version speak/ring, installation technology other, color silver, number of bell buttons 2, width 104mm, height 153mm, depth 16mm, The TFS-Dialog 200 is connected directly to an a/b port of your system via a two-wire cable connected and behaves like a telephone: When you press the bell button, a predefined internal or external number is dialed automatically. With its flat design, the housing fits into almost any local situation. This means that cumbersome flush-mounted installation is not required. A cover plate angled at the top, which also serves as a weather protection roof, is available to cover any built-in sockets of old systems. The large-area LED illuminates the door station even without additional supply voltage.
