LED recessed wall light 3000K IP44 anth LQ41802AD Suitable for wall mounting, Suitable for recessed mounting, LED illuminant not replaceable, With illuminant, Housing material stainless steel, Housing color anthracite, Cover material plastic opal, Type of voltage AC, Rated voltage 220 ... 240V, Control gear not required, symmetrical light distribution, indirect light emission, protection class (IP) IP44, protection class II, max. depth 35mm, installation diameter 55mm, type of wiring suitable for through-wiring, number of poles 2, connection type screw terminal, The LED recessed wall light is designed in such a way that it can either be attached directly to the wall with two screws or alternatively can be mounted in switch boxes. The screws are covered by the magnetically removable stainless steel frame. Due to the design and performance, the light is perfectly suited as an orientation light. Thanks to the MM marking, the light can also be used in furniture construction. Since the light is connected directly to the high-voltage supply line, there are no additional costs for power supplies. Due to the seal on the back, the luminaire achieves protection class IP44 during installation, housing color similar to RAL7016.
