Press ring seal Kabu-Seal 110/150 version press ring seal, cable diameter 112 ... 112mm, pipe diameter 110 ... 110mm, length 60mm, inner diameter before shrinking 111mm, inner diameter after shrinking 106mm, diameter of wall opening 150 ... 150mm, type of installation core drillings/pipes, Pressure medium gas, pressure 1.5 bar, dismantling possible, Kabu-Seal is a press ring seal made of a solid rubber core (EPDM) with a soft duroplast elastomer (PUR) coating in yellow and press flanges made of stainless steel. This water pressure-tight wall entry is used for Kabuflex S and Kabuflex R series for house and wall entries. The advantage is the soft surface, which creates a seal against the cable protection tube and the core drilling up to 1.5 bar water pressure. Due to the very good adhesive properties, the Kabu Seal press ring sealing insert sits securely (against pressurized water and gas) in the annular space even with a very low tightening torque (2Nm) of the screw connection. The installation can be carried out successfully without special tools (torque wrench) via the visual contact indicator (yellow bead) on the edges of the press flange.
